

In Memory Of Stevie Ray | Allan Besselink

Written by Allan Besselink
Tuesday, 27 August 1991 00:00

Stevie Ray

oh how the world misses you and me more so than the rest You see, I never knew you as anything more than a performer a gut-wrenching musician a persona on a sheet of paper But, hey
I understand you were pretty real a good human being living each day to the fullest you had the guts to face your fears and right your wrongs
And for this fact you are known

I can remember wanting to see what you came from where it was that you opened your musical arms to the rest of the world I knew it would be my home too a place to call my own then, suddenly
you left me
on my own
in your home
I guess
to make it mine.

You could always say things to me that words could never speak I always saw you as a sort of soulmate an honest person an intense yet laid-back style a deep love for the blues a man who knew his roots and always gave back what he took away

In Memory Of Stevie Ray | Allan Besselink

Written by Allan Besselink

Tuesday, 27 August 1991 00:00

You made people cry and smile
and feel but one emotion There was no hurt Stevie until now.

My life changed when I first saw you oh how things seemed different then a man with his blues a man with his heartfelt emotions a man finding himself so it was ...
I was saddened
with your loss
I never knew you Stevie but you remain as family always with me in Austin and beyond I carry all your thoughts with me of love and hope and happiness So maybe I can be half the man you were You showed us so much in such a short time showed us honesty with the world and oneself through music and spoken word spoke out for your friends at every concert you gave I'll never forget any of those moments so happy to see a man with a rejuvenated life ahead of him
the past behind him the future waiting to accept him

One year ago
Eric helped me feel better by playing honest music Tonight I played to ease the hurt within me I'll always play with you in mind

In Memory Of Stevie Ray | Allan Besselink

Written by Allan Besselink

Tuesday, 27 August 1991 00:00

Stevie, you will always be a candle in my life you led me to my promised land I thank you
I'll never forget you or your music or the things you said or did your memory lives on with me like family you'll always be I'll play on Stevie but damn it buddy I'll miss you we'll share our lives in Riviera Paradise for I'll always remember the person that left us behind I miss you Stevie Ray

If you're up there
keep one eye on me and make sure to remind me if I go wrong you exemplified the "good person" I hope to also ...
someday.

Stevie -
on this August 27
I get another year older and wiser but I sure don't forget what you did for me Stevie -
you won't be forgotten ever we'll miss you we'll see ya in the next world, ok?
Play on Stevie Ray
Play on ...